Security Summit

20th & 21st September 2010, Park Inn, Heathrow, London

The Total Security Summit will provide insight into the latest experiences and innovations in the security industry, offering a chance to meet with experts across a wide range of specialist areas.

This two day event is organised specifically for 'time restricted' professionals who purchase or influence the purchase of security products and services, and the companies who can provide it.

For delegates the benefits are endless, whether you're a Security Manager, Director or specifier, finding the time to visit trade shows to discover the latest technology and freshest innovations is not always easy.

By attending the Total Security Summit, you will be able to meet with suppliers of your choice and establish whether they provide products & services you require at a competitive cost which also allows you to gauge 'value for money' from your existing providers. You'll be able to network with industry peers and benefit from their experiences and lessons learned. You can attend seminars hosted by first class speakers on the 'hot' topics effecting the industry.

keep up to speed with all the latest ideas and solutions in the security industry

Select only the suppliers you wish to see from the detailed list we send you.

They'll simply present their services and listen to your requirements. Meetings are in comfortable, private booths for confidentiality. Each meeting lasts for around 30 minutes, with 15 minute breaks between for complimentary refreshments.

Best of all, attendance is entirely complimentary for delegates and includes overnight accommodation, all meals and refreshments, attendance to our industry related seminars, evening gala dinner with entertainment, together with your personalised itinerary of pre-agreed meetings.

In a difficult political and economic climate, the 2010 Total Security Summit seminar programme will address emerging trends and technologies and provide a unique opportunity for industry professionals to meet and discuss critical and relevant issues.
