2. What is The Syl Diploma in Security Management?

The Syl Diploma in Security Management is the Institutes own Membership qualification. On successful completion of the course you will eligible to apply for full Membership of the Institute¹ (subject to experience see point 4 below) and to enjoy numerous benefits including the use of the letters MSyl after your name, professional recognition, free copies of Syl publications, access to special offers and discounts, networking lunches and dinners as well as monthly newsletters and website access.

3. Who should apply for the course?

The course is open to all those who operate with the private and public security sectors and who have an interest in seeking professional recognition and qualification within that sector. Current members include security managers, health and safety managers, police officers, members of the armed services and those working in safety and security training.

4. What experience or qualifications do I need to apply for the course?

To apply for the Diploma you should have a minimum of 5 years security management experience².

If you have less than 5 years security management experience you can still undertake the Diploma, however you will initially qualify for 'Graduate' membership of the Security Institute. You can then apply for revalidation to 'Member' grade once you have acquired 5 years of security management experience.

Applications for the Diploma are also welcome from those who already hold the Certificate in Security Management. Successful students entering via this route will also be eligible for either 'Member' or 'Graduate' (as above) membership (on application) on successful completion of the Diploma.

5. How do I study for the Course?

The course is delivered by distance learning and consists of five mandatory modules. The course has been developed with continuous learning and assessment in mind so there are no written examinations.

¹ You will also be entitled to additional membership points based upon existing professional experience, qualification, training and other contributions. For more information contact the Syl on 01803 663275 or paula@security-institute.org
