

SECURITY INSTITUTE MASTERCLASS

25 March 2010

Protecting Crowded Places, Hazardous Sites and the Critical National Infrastructure

About NaCTSO:

The National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO) is a specialist Police unit, working alongside the 'Centre for the Protection of National Infrastructure' (CPNI).

The unit has 250 Counter Terrorism Security Advisers across the UK who give protective security advice to Crowded places, Sites containing Hazardous materials and the Critical National Infrastructure.

NaCTSO develop products on behalf of the Government and Police which are free to the end user and in particular the business community which will allow them to reduce their vulnerability to a terrorist attack.

Topics Covered:

- The National Counter Terrorism overview
- Protecting Crowded places
- The user pays principle explained
- Project REVISE protecting chemicals
- Vulnerability Self Assessment Tool, which is a free to use means of assessing vulnerabilities
- Protecting Education, Health Service and Hotels from attack

The price for this unique Masterclass is £95 for Security Institute members and £145 for non-members.

Places should be reserved by completing the Booking Form and forwarding it to bookings@security-institute.org

Alternatively you can book places by calling 08453 707717. Full payment is required at time of booking. We can take VISA/AMEX/MASTERCARD, debit cards, BACs payments and cheques.

What is it?

This Masterclass is a unique opportunity to see the way that protective security in the UK is heading. It will allow you to understand what Government and police see as the keys means of protecting crowded places and also the business opportunities this will present.

Who is it for?

Because of the broad base of this Masterclass it is suited to the whole security community. It will specifically help those who work in the following sectors, Retail, Hotels, Health Service, Education, Public Entertainment and Stadia.

Why attend?

Good practice and emerging methodologies are moving at a pace. Those in the Security Profession should be aware of the Government strategies and the implications for their business. Clients and employers rely on their security specialists for advice and protection and this Masterclass provides an update on the latest NaCTSO protection advice.

