

Security: Art or Science?

THE SECURITY INSTITUTE CONFERENCE 2010

CONFERENCE BROCHURE

Oakley Court, Windsor, SL4 5UR
Tues 7th – Weds 8th September 2010

Prices:

Institute Members:

Delegate: £199 inclusive

Exhibitor: £495 inclusive

Non-Members:

Delegate: £249 inclusive

Exhibitor: £645 inclusive

The conference will be supported by an exhibition, which features companies who provide key benefits, advice and support to security professionals.

An exclusive event for Security Institute members and invited guests, providing challenging and stimulating debates from specialists across the security profession

Security: Art or Science is the Security Institute's 3rd conference and exhibition, held in the stately setting of Oakley Court Hotel on the banks of the River Thames, Windsor.

The conference covers many issues facing today's security professional, offering advice and suggesting solutions for challenges we face today protecting people, assets and information. Never dull, often challenging, whether you prefer to sit and listen or join in the discussions, there is something for everyone at "Security: Art or Science" 2010.

Science (from Latin: scientia, meaning "knowledge"). A systematic enterprise of gathering knowledge about the world and organizing and condensing that knowledge into testable laws and theories.

Art (can be) defined as imaginative, creative, and nonscientific branches of knowledge considered collectively, esp. as studied academically.

As Security Professionals we seldom stop to consider whether our discipline is an art or a science – indeed one academic institution offers both an MSc and an MA in security-related subjects. This exclusive conference provides you with opportunities to quickly and easily gather information to help you with your role in security management, whilst building on our challenging title – SECURITY : ART OR SCIENCE?

Our conference brings together eminent speakers on some of the issues facing UK security professionals, and hope their message gives you food for thought as well as some practical ideas to follow-up when you return to the workplace. Alongside there will be exhibitors demonstrating the latest technology, all in the relaxed setting of Oakley Court, Windsor.

Who Should Attend?

The Conference will be of interest to anyone working in the security, risk reduction or business continuity arena, including Directors, Heads of Departments and Security Managers, Academics and Trainers, Security Consultants and providers of Security Goods and Services.

Why Attend as a Delegate?

The Security Institute's objective is to provide a challenging and stimulating event, where you will have the opportunity to judge for yourselves whether security is an art, a science, neither or both!

- ❖ Share the expertise of the UK's leading security experts
- ❖ Discover what lies ahead for our businesses that will impact on security
- ❖ Meet key representatives of departments providing advice and knowledge
- ❖ Prepare yourself to better manage and lead in your business

Come and join in. Learn, reinforce your existing knowledge and enjoy listening and possibly participating in debate. We guarantee you will make new contacts, including exhibitors, speakers and other delegates.

The Delegate Package Includes:

- ❖ Full access to the two-day conference
- ❖ Informed speakers with excellent advice
- ❖ Access to all exhibitors and their advice
- ❖ Informal networking BBQ Dinner and drinks
- ❖ Excellent networking opportunities
- ❖ Continuous professional development
- ❖ Delegate information pack
- ❖ Lunch on arrival and refreshments throughout

There are a limited number of sponsorship opportunities for organisations wishing to promote themselves to over 1000 Security Institute members – packages start from just £300. Also exhibition stand spaces are available at £495 each for Institute members and £645 for non members.

Conference Timetable

Tuesday 7th September 2010

12:00 Registration & Lunch

- 13:45 Welcoming Address
With "Security- Art or Science?" we aim to challenge your ideas
Mike Bluestone FSyl
Chairman, Security Institute
- 14:00 Painting a Professional Picture
Where are we heading and what will Chartered Status do for us? A look at developments in the professional security sector
- 14:15 Publish and be safe!
Introducing the new Risk Management Good Practice Guide and launching Workplace Investigations
Jamie Stephen, FSyl,
Mitig8 Specialist Risk Services
- 14:45 The Art of the Forger
Could you recognise a counterfeit passport? Do you know what to look for? Includes the chance to touch real samples
Sergeant Mike Burt
UK Border Agency

15:30 Refreshments available in the exhibition area

- 16:00 Kidnap & Family Support – Drawing on what's available
Kidnap ~ a unique and emotive crime that can be mapped and understood to reduce the risks and impact.
Rachel Briggs
Director, Hostage UK
- 16:30 You and Your Team – Unleashing the X-Factor
Fiery red or cool blue, managing dynamic personalities in a team and adopting a common language of colour can reduce conflict
Giles Miskin
The Colour Works International

17:45 Exhibition

19:30 Come Dine with Us - Relax over drinks and a casual BBQ in the grounds of Oakley Court Hotel

Wednesday 8th September 2010

- 09:00 Under the Microscope
How will the SIA fare under the new Government? What lies ahead?
Bill Butler, SIA Chief Executive
- 09:30 Buying Security Services – is it rocket science?
Tight deadlines, even tighter budgets, demanding clients. What do buyers look for and what makes the difference?
Andrew Nicholls, MSyl
Mitchells & Butler
- 10:00 You can bet on it!
With increased betting via websites, the issue of integrity in sports betting has never been more relevant.
Bill South, MSyl, William Hill plc

10:30 Refreshments available in the exhibition area

- 11:00 Convergence – a chain reaction
Information Assurance is the life-blood of our businesses – how can we make sure we don't bleed out?
Azeem Aleem, FSyl
University of Portsmouth
- 11:30 A successful experiment
An update on the 2009 launch of the National Fraud Intelligence Bureau
T/DCI Richard Waight,
City of London Police
- 12:00 Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome: Calculating the effect
With Top tips and some Trauma Risk Management (TRiM) for Managers
Roy Scott, MBE, March on Stress
- 12:30 Launching the Register of Chartered Security Practitioners
Why is it important? What will it achieve? An update on the partnership between the Worshipful Company and the Security Institute
Don Randall, Worshipful Company
of Security Professionals
- 12:40 Security: Art or Science
The case for, the case against
Lord Alex Carlile QC
President, Security Institute

13:30 Farewell and Departures

Security Institute ~ the largest UK-based association for security professionals

- ❖ Validation of experience and qualifications
- ❖ Certificate & Diploma in Security Management

- ❖ Training & education
- ❖ Newsletters & website

Creative Writing

Lord Carlile of Berriew QC, President of The Security Institute

Alex Carlile was called to the Bar by Gray's Inn in 1970 and became a QC in 1984. He is a Bencher of Gray's Inn. He sits as a recorder of the Crown Court and as a Deputy High Court Judge. He has been the Independent Reviewer of terrorism legislation since 2001. He is the President of the Howard League for Penal Reform and President of The Security Institute. Alex specialises in the civil and criminal aspects of commercial fraud, and other serious crime. His best known criminal case was the defence of Paul Burrell, butler to the late Diana Princess of Wales.

Rachel Briggs, Director, Hostage UK

Rachel is the Director of Hostage UK, and author of The Kidnapping Business. Rachel runs Hostage UK part-time, and combines this role with a post at the think tank, RUSI, where she is a Senior Research Fellow. She writes, researches and advises government, companies and the voluntary sector on a range of security-related issues. Formerly Head of International Strategy and Head of the Identity Programme at Demos, and before that she ran the Risk and Security Programme at The Foreign Policy Centre.

Giles Miskin, The Colour Works International

Back by popular demand Giles is an entertaining and engaging speaker with many years' leadership and team experience in both public and private sectors. Since starting up The Colour Works in 2003, he has spoken all over the country, internationally, and at our Members' Evening in Bristol earlier this year.

Roy Scott MBE, Operations Manager, March on Stress

With 34 years experience in the Royal Marines, Roy has deployed on operations worldwide. As a Trauma Risk Management (TRiM) trainer Roy has trained many organisations; including emergency services, media, security companies and Local Authorities. He has also presented aspects of TRiM to National, European and International seminars at home and abroad.

About the Venue : Oakley Court, Windsor

Oakley Court is one of the finest and most renowned country house hotels in England. Set in over 37 acres of beautiful English landscape gardens with manicured lawns leading straight onto a private stretch of the River Thames, Oakley Court's stunning location and tranquil setting is a perfect venue for the Institute's third Annual Conference.

Accommodation (not included in the price) is available at the Hotel, priced at £120 B&B single occupancy for Security Institute Conference Delegates. To book please contact the hotel on 01753 609988 quoting your attendance at the Conference.

Oakley Court is conveniently located on the A308 between Maidenhead and Windsor on the River Thames.

It is 15 minutes by car from Slough train station with direct services from London Paddington and the West, a slower train service stops at Maidenhead train station (10 minutes away) and Windsor Railway station is direct from London Waterloo (10 minutes away).

